Our Mission

Developing and empowering the next generation of pastors and leaders.

Our Core Values

Education

We believe education is crucial to being a prepared and effective leader.

Experience

We believe experience compliments education and provides a place for leaders to apply knowledge and grow.

Enrichment

We believe the enrichment of mentorship provides the student the personal support they need to take risks, and the benefit of gleaning from experienced ministry leaders.

Program Objectives

- To become fully devoted followers of Jesus.
- To prepare for leadership with education and hands-on experience.
- To participate fully in a classroom setting, including engaging in discussion and reflective assessments.
- To gain clarity about leadership principles, values, ethics, boundaries, and the culture of New Life Church.
- To develop personal habits, strategies, and tools that teach students how to lead from a place of health.
- To understand the purpose of your leadership calling and to empower others, while optimizing your own effectiveness.

Who are Next Wave Interns?

Full-time/Part-time college students

The typical Next Wave intern carries a minimum of 12 credits per semester. This student may be enrolled at any accredited college. They often feel called to vocational ministry.

Adult Professionals

Interns who already have careers. Next Wave enables them to finish their degrees or credentialed minister programs at a highly discounted rate and still fulfill their other responsibilities.

Trade School Students

Some Next Wave interns are attending trade schools and want to prepare to lead in their local church. Our program enables them to do that and be equipped for their calling.

Why Choose Next Wave?

- Hands-on experience in the ministry of your choosing.
- One-on-one mentorship.
- Highly discounted college tuition.
- Develop life, study, and organizational skills.
- Supportive relationships. Students will learn and serve with others who are dedicated to the same Kingdom cause.

Northwest University

New Life Church has partnered with Northwest University to provide highly discounted college tuition for participants enrolled in online courses. Additionally, when a Next Wave intern is enrolled through this partnership, they earn three practicum credits per semester because of the hands-on education and experience attained while serving as an intern at New Life Church.
